

Making MICHIGAN

symposium

1943

Consequences of Mobilization March 15, 2017

Ann Arbor: The GI Bill and Its Impact on Higher Education

2:00–4:00 p.m. | University of Michigan
Museum of Art (UMMA), Multipurpose Room
Lecture with Glenn Altschuler, Philo Hutcheson, Robert Bain.

Willow Run: Gender, Race, and Factory Work During and After World War II

4:15–6:30 p.m. | UMMA, Auditorium
Lecture, film screening, conversation, and panel with Seth
Bernstein, Deborah Dash Moore, Jennifer Friess, Stephen
Hartke, Marian Krzyzowski, Ruth Milkman, Kate Rosenblatt, Ernestine Ruben.

Detroit's Music in 1943: From Night Clubs to Neighborhoods

7:30–9:00 p.m. | UMMA, Forum
Lecture by Mark Slobin and live musical performance by Vincent York's Jazzistry.

Ernestine Ruben at Willow Run: Mobilizing Memory

March 11–August 20 | UMMA
Presenting Ruben's photographs of Willow Run and an original film co-created by Ruben.

Additional support from the Bicentennial Office, Frankel Center for Judaic Studies, University of Michigan Museum of Art, Department of History, and Eisenberg Institute for Historical Studies.