

Islamic Movements in Comparative Perspective

NEAREAST 411/REEES 411 Winter 2018

Monday/Wednesday 10:00 ~11:30 AM

Fulfills ULWR

This course examines the rise and evolution of political movements that derive their distinct identity from Islam by appealing to its foundational ideas and values and acting in its name and/or in the name of God. Discussions focus on the vicissitudes of such movements in the major areas of the Muslim world from West Africa to Indonesia, Russia, and Afghanistan.

Professor Alexander Knysh

alknysh@umich.edu

Department of Near Eastern Studies