NATIVE AMERICAN STUDIES

NATIVEAM 223.001 | Elementary Ojibwe II
Tuesdays + Thursdays | 1-2:30pm | 3 credits | Prof. Alphonse Pitawanakwat
Continuation of AMCULT 222. This course represents American Culture's long-standing commitment to Ojibwe language instruction and preservation.

NATIVEAM 323.001 | Intermediate Ojibwe II
Tuesdays + Thursdays | 10-11:30am | 3 credits | Prof. Alphonse Pitawanakwat | Language Requirement
Continuation of AMCULT 223. This course represents American Culture's long-standing commitment to Ojibwe language instruction and preservation.

NATIVEAM 373.001 | History of the US West
Mondays + Wednesdays | 1:00-2:30pm | 4 credits | Prof. Anthony Mora | HU
Ecological zones as distinct as the Great Plains, Southwestern deserts, and the Pacific coast all fall into the region known today as the U.S. Diverse populations, empires, and nations have at various moments thought of those same places as their “South”, their “North”, or their “East.” Whatever they called it, all of them thought of it as theirs. We will think through these shifting claims by considering diverse perspectives including Native Americans, Europeans, Latina/os, Asians, and Euro Americans as they appeared from 1200 CE to the present. Through that expansive span of time, we will learn, these plains, deserts, and mountains witnessed remarkable cross-cultural exchanges, celebrations, and great sorrows.

AMCULT/ASIANPAM 372.001 | Hula- Creative Practice
Tuesdays + Thursdays | 5:30-7pm | 3 Credits | Prof. Amy Stillman | CE
An introduction to the performance rudiments of the Hawaiian hula tradition, as they are contextualized within a system of cultural expectations of behavior.

LSA AMERICAN CULTURE
UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN