CONFERENCES SPONSORED:

The Institute for Health, Social, and Community Research (IHSCR) Second Conference on Minority Health, September 26, 2008. This conference provided a unique opportunity for IHSCR investigators to share findings from research conducted on a variety of health disparity issues including access to care for the elderly, faith-based collaborations for research, prostate cancer, and building a research infrastructure.

Keynote speakers: Harriet A. Washington, Ph.D., a medical ethicist who is an award-winning medical writer and editor with former appointments at Harvard Medical School, Harvard School of Public Health and Stanford University and Thomas A. LaVeist, Ph.D., the William C. and Nancy F. Richardson Professor in Health Policy, and the Founding Director of the Center for Health Disparities Solutions at Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health. This conference was funded by NIH NCMHD grant R13 MD002743).

The Institute for Health, Social, and Community Research (IHSCR) First Conference on Minority Health, September 8, 2006. This conference provided a unique opportunity for IHSCR investigators to share findings from research conducted on a variety of health disparity issues including access to care for the elderly, faith-based collaborations for research, prostate cancer, and building a research infrastructure. Keynote speaker: James S. Jackson, Ph.D., Director of the Institute for Social Research, University of Michigan and Sherman A. James, Ph.D., Susan B. King Professor of Public Policy, Duke University.

In 2015, Texas A&M University introduced me to the campus on a promotional video <http://youtu.be/YDMc57UrDt8>.

In 2013, the official report of the National Advisory Board (NAB) of the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation (RWJF) Center for Health Policy at Meharry Medical College stated that “the NAB is quite impressed with the progress of the Center. The principle finding of the NAB in 2012 is that under Dr. Howard’s leadership, in conjunction with Drs. Riley and Dever and others, the Center has been highly attentive to advice and suggestions resulting from the 2011 NAB visit. This has resulted in extremely impressive growth and development of the Center over the last year. Accordingly, the NAB urges Dr. Howard to continue to build on the many successes, forgo unnecessary growth for now, and instead focus on the maturation of this budding institution. The RWJF Center for Health Policy at Meharry Medical College is a strong addition to the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation’s portfolio of national programs and centers, and is well on its way to becoming a nationally-recognized center of excellence at both Meharry Medical College and Vanderbilt University.”

The NAB members were: James F. Blumstein, M.A., L.L.B., University Professor of Law and Director, Vanderbilt Health Policy Center, Vanderbilt University Law School; Timothy Carey, M.D., MPH, Professor of Social Medicine and Director, Cecil G. Named “15th Most Read Article of 2012” in the journal Health & Social Work – Kim, M.M., Ford, J.D., D.L. Howard, and Bradford, D.W. Assessing Trauma, Substance Abuse and Mental Health In A Sample of Homeless Men. Health & Social Work Vol. 35, No. 1, pp.39-48, February 2010.

One of seven nationally-renowned health policy experts selected to serve on the 2012 Urban Health Advisory Panel, which is formulated by the National Urban League’s Policy Institute. The National Urban League Policy Institute will release a State of Urban Health report later in 2012 that establishes a clear connection between the elimination of health disparities along racial lines and the economic vitality of households, communities and ultimately the nation.

The editors of the journal Progress in Community Health Partnerships select one article from each issue for their “Beyond the Manuscript” podcast.
